INTRODUCTION

This bibliography was prepared by a systematic search of potentially relevant journals held in the library of the New Zealand Oceanographic Institute. Where the journal provided an index this was checked for references to Cook Islands, Niue and South Pacific and the abstracts of papers thus located were read to determine their content and relevance to this bibliography. If an index was not provided, the contents list was read. The references lists of pertinent papers were also examined, and references were found in this way. However, many of these references have not been seen by the author and their relevance is assumed from their title or the context of their citation.

Papers on submarine geology are included where they cover the region in an among the Cook Islands or offshore from Niue. The geographical boundaries of the bibliography are not rigid lines of latitude and longitude but rather the references of the individual authors to either the Cook Islands or Niue.
